How to Apply for Unemployment Insurance Benefits Arizona

Who should apply for unemployment?

Anyone who recently lost a job or had work hours reduced should apply. Apply as soon as you are unemployed. Don't wait to apply or you may lose some benefits.

Getting ready to apply:

The following information is needed when you apply:

- Social Security Number
- Driver's license number or other state government identification number
- Employment history for the past 18 months, including:
 - Each employer's name, address, and phone number
 - Dates of employment (month and year)
 - Pay rate
 - Reason you no longer work for the employer
- Your bank account and routing numbers, for direct deposit of benefits
- Mailing Address
- Telephone Number
- If you are not a United States citizen, you need your work authorization document
- If you served in the U.S. military in the last 18 months you need your DD-214, Member 2
- If you were a federal employee in the last 18 months you need your SF-8 and SF-50

What to Expect?

It generally takes two to four weeks after a claim is filed to receive the first benefit check. Some states require a one-week waiting period; in other words, you would receive your first payment for the second week of your unemployment claim.

How to Apply for Unemployment Insurance Benefits Texas

Who should apply for unemployment?

Anyone who recently lost a job or had work hours reduced should apply. Apply as soon as you are unemployed. Don't wait to apply or you may lose some benefits.

Getting ready to apply:

The following information is needed when you apply:

- Social Security Number
- Driver's license number or other state government identification number
- Employment history for the past 18 months, including:
 - Each employer's name, address, and phone number
 - Dates of employment (month and year)
 - Pay rate
 - Reason you no longer work for the employer
- Your bank account and routing numbers, for direct deposit of benefits
- Mailing Address
- Telephone Number
- If you are not a United States citizen, you need your work authorization document
- If you served in the U.S. military in the last 18 months you need your DD-214, Member 2
- If you were a federal employee in the last 18 months you need your SF-8 and SF-50

What to Expect?

It generally takes two to four weeks after a claim is filed to receive the first benefit check. Some states require a one-week waiting period; in other words, you would receive your first payment for the second week of your unemployment claim.
